Keynote Address

Robert Bellamy, Duquesne University

Robert Bellamy has been writing about media and sports for over twenty years in such publications and books as the Journal of Broadcasting & Electronic Media (JOBEM), Journal of Sport and Social Issues (JSSI); NINE: A Journal of Baseball History and Culture; Media, Sports, and Society; MediaSport; and The Handbook of Sports and Media. His most recent book (co-authored with James Walker) is Center Field Shot: A History of Baseball on Television (2008).

He is Professor in the Department of Journalism and Multimedia Arts at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh where he teaches courses in Media and Sports, Media Sports Relations, Media Law & Regulation, Research Methods, and Media & Society. He is a member of the editorial board of NINE and previously of JSSI. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa, his M.A. from the University of Kentucky, and his B.A. from Morehead State University in his home state of Kentucky.

He lives in the South Hills of Pittsburgh with his wife Cathy, daughter Kate, a dog, three cats, and two fish. Pittsburgh, of course, is the “City of Champions,” except in his favorite sport of baseball, where the Pirates have set some more dubious records of their own.

David Lee Morgan, Akron Beacon Journal

Morgan joined the Akron Beacon Journal in 1995 and has covered the Cleveland Cavaliers, the University of Akron, the Akron Aeros and high school sports. He was the beat writer for the Aeros, the Indians' Double-A affiliate, from 1997 to 2003. He also was part of the Beacon Journal's coverage during the Indians' 1997 playoff run, which included a World Series appearance against eventual champions the Florida Marlins.

Morgan covered NBA MVP and All-Star LeBron James when James played at St. Vincent-St. Mary High School in Akron, Ohio.

Morgan has written the following books "LeBron James: The Rise of A Star" (2003), "Kelly 'The Ghost' Pavlik: The Pride of Youngstown" (2009), "More Than A Coach: What It Means To Play For Coach, Mentor and Friend Jim Tressel" (2009), "High School Heroes: Athlete's Stories of Inspiration, Dedication and Hope" (2009) and "A Ring For The King: King James, Shaq and the Quest for an NBA Championship" (2009).

Morgan was named the Ohio Prep Sportswriters Association Writer of the Year three times (2004, 2007 and 2009).

He is a former basketball and baseball player from Warren G. Harding High School in Warren, Ohio, the same high school that produced Pro Football Hall of Fame wide receiver Paul Warfield, former Ohio State All-American and NFL All-Pro offensive lineman and the late Korey Stringer, former Ohio State running back Maurice Clarett and former University of Michigan star and current New York Giants wide receiver Mario Manningham.

Morgan also played baseball for a year at Youngstown State University, where he received a bachelor's degree in Professional Writing & Editing with a minor in journalism.
